CERRITOS, Calif., April 04, 2024 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- The Oncology Institute, Inc. and its affiliates (NASDAQ: TOI) and Healthy, a rapidly growing healthcare company with over 180 primary care physicians, support services, and a focus on preventive medicine, have announced a strategic collaboration aimed at extending high-quality cancer care services to patients throughout Southern California. Commencing July 1, 2024, TOI will offer its cancer care services to patients affiliated with Healthy's medical groups and associated physicians across the region. Leveraging TOI's extensive network of oncology clinics and providers, this partnership aims to deliver convenient and comprehensive cancer care services to patients within the Healthy network.

Dr. Daniel Virnich, CEO of The Oncology Institute, shares his enthusiasm about the collaboration, stating, "TOI is thrilled about the opportunity to launch this meaningful partnership, positioning ourselves as the preferred provider of cancer care for Healthy's valued patient communities and associated providers in Southern California. Our care model prioritizes accessibility, care coordination, and the delivery of top-tier clinical services in community settings, aligning perfectly with Healthy's patient-centric, physician-empowered care model."

"The Oncology Institute's expertise with cancer care coordination and focus on advancing positive health outcomes is a big win for the patients and primary care physicians that Healthy works with," said Ben Quirk, Founder and CEO of Healthy. "Navigating cancer is a multifaceted challenge, often representing one of the most trying periods in a patient's life. Through this strategic partnership, we aim to offer innovative care pathways, including access to clinical trials, to enhance patient access to cutting-edge drugs and treatments at reduced costs."
